New Betim facility expands regional production, supports Clover's growth strategy, and strengthens supply-chain

MILWAUKEE, May 07, 2026 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Fiserv, Inc. (NASDAQ: FISV), a global leader in payments and financial technology, announced the opening of its first Clover® manufacturing facility in the Americas in Betim, Minas Gerais (Brazil). The new facility expands Fiserv's global manufacturing footprint and reinforces the company's long-term commitment to Brazil as a key growth market.

The Betim facility is an important part of Clover's global hardware strategy, helping accelerate development cycles and increase flexibility across sourcing, design, and production. Local manufacturing enhances Fiserv's ability to adapt solutions to regional market needs while maintaining the performance, security, and reliability merchants expect.

The expanded manufacturing footprint also supports the development of more cost-efficient Clover Flex devices, helping bring modern commerce technology within reach for businesses in markets where affordability is critical – without compromising quality, security, or performance.

"By strengthening our ability to innovate and scale locally, we are focused on bringing new capabilities to market faster and deliver affordable, reliable payment technology that helps businesses get up and running quickly, operate smarter, and grow."

As part of Fiserv's ongoing investment in Clover hardware innovation, the company continues to advance new capabilities designed to enhance security, usability, and merchant performance. This work includes support for emerging technologies and form factors that simplify transactions, strengthen trust, and adapt to how businesses operate in diverse markets.
